Speaker Highlights

Anna Klis

Anna Klis is a Registered Nurse with over 17 years' experience in the health and aged care industry, with vast experience in operational and clinical management, governance, compliance, training and change management. Anna ensures culturally sensitive solutions, developing strategies to maximise performance through strategy and risk management of the organisation and focusing on the importance of rigorous governance frameworks and system implementation for safe and quality care. Through the Remote and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Aged Care Service Development Assistance Panel, Anna has extensive experience working with regional, rural and remote organisations.

Jacene Wiseman

Jacene brings over 20 years' experience in the health, aged and disability sector, where the last 15 years has been predominately working with Aboriginal Regional, Rural and Remote organisations. Her focus normally starts on governance, but as with many projects, quickly morphs into ground up, top down service delivery and workforce capacity building. She has been inceptual in transforming organisations through her knowledge transfer of practical, evidenced based systemic processes to embed excellence, overcome challenges and reward innovation.

Dianne Adamson

Dianne completed her nursing training at the Royal Adelaide Hospital and gained extensive experience before being appointed Director of Nursing in 1987 at Longueville Private Hospital. In 1990, she became CEO and under her direction the hospital set new Australian benchmarks in fourteen categories relating to service excellence and performance management in a national benchmarking survey. Dianne has studied extensively in communication, leadership, counselling and coaching including a Master Practitioner course in Neurolinguistic Programming and Acceptance and Commitment Therapy. She belongs to many industry associations and is an Associate Fellow at the Institute of Management. Having presented nationally and internationally, she shares real life experiences and practical strategies that can be applied immediately to support organisations and to instil a sense of ownership and purpose in staff. Di informs, challenges and entertains the spirit of those who listen to her.
